About Us

Danny Han is a licensed acupuncturist & Doctor of Acupuncture. His holistic approach to treating patients includes a combination of complementary techniques, including Acupuncture, Cupping, Moxibustion and Herbal Medicine. He employs a gentle & instructive approach to treating patients.

We believe that natural, holistic therapies are important and integral parts of a health lifestyle, especially in today's fast-paced and hectic world. Our mission is to educate and instruct the public, and especially the non-Asian community, about the benefits of acupuncture and other forms of traditional medicine. Our goal is to provide natural, safe and affordable alternative health therapies.

We are available for speaking engagements, health fairs and other events. Please e-mail us for more information about scheduling a holistic health event at your location.
