

Treat Sports Injuries with Acupuncture

HOW DOES ACUPUNCTURE RELIEVE PAIN?

Acupuncture stimulates production of endorphins which are the body's natural pain relievers. They relax the whole body when released into the blood stream.

IS ACUPUNCTURE SAFE?

Acupuncture is a completely safe, holistic therapy. Unlike pharmaceutical drugs (which often carry significant side effects), acupuncture is a natural treatment which encourages the body to heal itself.

HOW MANY TREATMENTS DO I NEED?

Acute conditions, such as a sprain, are often resolved in just a few sessions. Chronic conditions usually require several intensive treatments at first, which are then followed by regular "tune-up" sessions.

Acupuncture is an effective, affordable, and natural treatment for sports injuries such as knee pain, joint pain, tennis elbow and more.

This holistic, drug-free therapy can be administered in conjunction with existing rehabilitation treatment or other therapies to treat sports injuries, arthritis, sciatica, and other common pain conditions.
